American Community Survey

History

1940-2000

- Decennial Census: Short Form & Long Form

2005

- American Community Survey Replaces Decennial Long Form

2010

- Decennial Census: Short Form Only

What is the American Community Survey?

A large, continuous survey that:

- is sent to 3 million resident addresses per year
- produces characteristics of population and housing
- produces estimates for small areas and small population groups
- Produces characteristics, not a population count
- Key component of the decennial census program

Period Estimates

- Describe the average characteristics over a specific period of time
- Contrast with point-in-time estimates
  - Do not describe the characteristics on a specific date
- Period is 1 year, 3 years, or 5 years for ACS
- 1 Year Estimates
Geographic areas with 65,000 or more population
- 3 Year Estimates
Geographic areas with more than 20,000 population
- 5 Year Estimates
All geographic areas down to the census tract & block group level

American Community Survey Geography

- The 2010 ACS data release marks the first time ACS will use 2010 tabulation geography for most statistical areas, the same definitions as the 2010 Census.
- Geographic areas whose definitions were updated for the 2010 Census include Census Designated Places (CDPs), census tracts, and block groups.
- 2010 ACS estimates for PUMAs and urban areas continue to use Census 2000 definitions.

Understanding Estimates and Margin of Error

Estimates

- ACS data are estimates
- ACS data are not counts of the population or housing
- Population counts are produced from the decennial census
  - Counts are updated throughout the decade through the Population Estimates Program

Margin of Error (MOE)

- Margin of Error Definition:
A measure of the precision of an estimate at a given level of confidence (90%, 95%, 99%)
  - MOEs at the 90% confidence level for all published ACS estimates
- Confidence Interval Definition:
A range that is expected to contain the population value of the characteristic with a known probability

Although the American Community Survey (ACS) produces population, demographic and housing unit estimates, for 2010, the 2010 Census provides the official counts of the population and housing units for states, counties, cities and towns. For 2006 to 2009, the Population Estimates Program provides intercensal estimates of the population for the nation, states, and counties.

Explanation of Symbols:

An "***" entry in the margin of error column indicates that either no sample observations or too few sample observations were available to compute a standard error and thus the margin of error. A statistical test is appropriate.

An "-" entry in the estimate column indicates that either no sample observations or too few sample observations were available to compute an estimate, or a ratio of medians cannot be calculated because one of the median estimates falls in the lowest interval or upper interval of an open-ended distribution.

An "-" following a median estimate means the median falls in the lowest interval of an open-ended distribution.

An "+" following a median estimate means the median falls in the upper interval of an open-ended distribution.

Explanation of Symbols:

An "*****" entry in the margin of error column indicates that either no sample observations or too few sample observations were available to compute a standard error and thus the margin of error. A statistical test is not appropriate.

New information on same-sex couples from the 2010 Census will be released, including the number of married couples and a set of preferred estimates of same-sex spouses and unmarried partners at the national and state levels. These estimates were developed to account for data capture errors that make it difficult to measure same-sex couple households. Estimates from the 2010 American Community Survey (ACS), along with a brief analyzing the ACS estimates are available here.

Although the American Community Survey (ACS) produces population, demographic and housing unit estimates, for 2010, the 2010 Census provides the official counts of the population and housing units for the nation, states, counties, cities and towns.

An * indicates that the estimate is significantly different (at a 90% confidence level) than the estimate from the most current year. A "c" indicates the estimates for that year and the current year are both controlled; a statistical test is not appropriate.
