Biennial Condominium Association Registration Starts with New Look

HONOLULU – The Hawaii Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs (DCCA) is kicking off the 2013-2015 Condominium Association registration period with the introduction of a redesigned website and enhanced access. Registration is available through May 31, 2013 via the upgraded website at <https://aouo.ehawaii.gov>.

More than 1,650 condominium associations are registered with the DCCA's Real Estate Branch. Those associations cover more than 157,000 condominium units and their owners in Hawaii.

"We're pleased to provide upgraded services for Hawaii's condominium associations and managing companies," DCCA Director Kealii S. Lopez said. "The new design is clean and user friendly, making the registration process quick and easy, even from a mobile device."

The website upgrade is part of the Abercrombie administration's Information Technology (IT) Transformation Initiative, as set forth by the state Office of Information Management Technology (OIMT). The design elements of this online service follows the new State of Hawaii website template, optimized for touch screen technology and smart phone interfaces by providing larger text, buttons designed for touch response and custom layouts for smaller screens.

They were developed through the eHawaii.gov program, a largely self-funded public-private partnership between the State of Hawaii and Hawaii Information Consortium LLC (HIC), a Hawaii corporation and wholly owned subsidiary of eGovernment firm NIC Inc. (NASDAQ: EGOV).
