

An Introduction to the Taxpayer Advocacy Program

State of Hawaii
Department of Taxation

David Y. Ige
Governor

Linda Chu Takayama
Director of Taxation

Revised March 2018

1. What is the Taxpayer Advocacy Program?

The Taxpayer Advocacy Program is administered by the Department of Taxation (Department). Our office provides you with a one-stop service for concerns that cannot be resolved through normal channels. We will assist and advise you when you have exhausted all means within the Department to resolve your tax-related problems. Assistance is provided on a case-by-case basis depending on your needs.

2. When should I use the Taxpayer Advocacy Program?

Most tax problems are resolved promptly through regular contacts. However, after several attempts you still have difficulty in resolving your problem, our office may be able to help you. Also see question 4.

3. Where is the Taxpayer Advocacy Office located?

We are located in the Department of Taxation at 830 Punchbowl Street, Rm. 221 (Keelikolani Bldg.), Honolulu, Hawaii. Our telephone number is (808) 587-1791.

4. Can the Taxpayer Advocate provide assistance for all of my tax issues?

No. The following are some situations in which the Taxpayer Advocate is unable to assist you:

- You have not attempted to resolve your matter by contacting the auditor, examiner, taxpayer services, or other appropriate department personnel.
- You have not used or refuse to use established administrative or formal appeal procedures to resolve the matter.
- You are appealing an assessment to the Board of Review or Tax Appeal Court.
- You are requesting suspension of the 30-day time period to appeal a final notice of assessment.
- You are requesting technical advice or confidential tax information.
- You are requesting a reversal of legal or technical tax determinations.
- You are questioning the constitutionality or legality of the tax system and tax laws.
- You are requesting innocent spouse relief.

- You are under investigation by the Criminal Investigation Unit.
- You are requesting an Offer in Compromise.

5. What are my responsibilities as a taxpayer?

You must first attempt to resolve your problem by contacting the appropriate department personnel (auditor, examiner, taxpayer services, etc.) and timely providing all documents and information requested. You must also use the administrative or formal appeal procedures available to you before seeking assistance from the Taxpayer Advocate.

6. How can I contact the Taxpayer Advocate?

You can reach our office by telephone at (808) 587-1791 or by email at Taxpayer.Advocate@hawaii.gov.

If you need to contact us, please have the following information ready:

- your name, social security number, federal employer identification number, and Hawaii Tax ID Number
- your address
- your daytime telephone number and the best time to contact you
- the date of the notice, correspondence, or action, the office involved, and the nature of the problem
- your previous attempts to resolve the problem, and the office(s) and person(s) contacted
- the tax period, tax year, and type of document involved, such as a tax return or assessment

If we are unavailable at the time that you called, you will be automatically connected to our voice mail. Leave a brief message with the date, time, your name, phone number, the best time to return your call during business hours, and a short description of your situation.

We will respond by mail to any questions received via email or fax since we do not send confidential tax information through email or fax.

You can send all correspondence to the Taxpayer Advocacy Office, Department of Taxation, P.O. Box 259, Honolulu, HI, 96809-0259 or fax it to us at (808) 587-1560. Be sure to sign and date your letter. We will not be able to help you without proper authorization.

7. What is required if I want someone to represent me?

To authorize a person other than yourself to represent you, sign Hawaii tax documents on your behalf, or receive confidential tax information, you must send us a completed Form N-848, Power of Attorney. This form is required whether the designated representative is an immediate family member, close friend, or hired professional, such as a CPA or an attorney.

Note: Information can only be given to the extent of the authorization.
