2024 Highlights

In Fiscal Year 2024, the Stadium Authority (Authority) restarted the procurement process for the New Aloha Stadium Entertainment District (NASED) project. Governor Green proposed a new, single integrated project approach, where one developer would design, build, operate, and maintain the new Aloha Stadium as a central component of the NASED project. The expectation is that the developer will invest their own funds alongside the already appropriated state funding to ensure a higher quality stadium than what the state could build using only its resources. In return for this investment and long-term maintenance guarantee, the developer will receive development rights to the surrounding land and use the revenue generated from these developments to fund ongoing stadium operating and maintenance costs. The overall goal of this approach is to transfer the responsibility for long-term funding and cost overruns to the private sector, thereby minimizing the financial burden on Hawaii taxpayers.

This new approach required comprehensive legal and financial due diligence, which began with a market-sounding process in June 2023 to better inform the procurement strategy. Based on the data collected from this process, Part 1 of the request for proposals (RFP) was published in December 2023. Two developer-led teams were shortlisted in April 2024 and invited to participate in the Proposals phase of the procurement. On July 31, 2024, the state received a proposal from Aloha Halawa District Partners (AHDP). Following a five-week evaluation process, the Evaluation Team, guided by legal, financial, and technical advisors, confirmed that the proposal met the requirements outlined in the RFP document and offered significant value for money to the state. Consequently, AHDP was invited into a nine-month Diligence and Discussions phase, where final negotiations are underway. The contract is expected to be completed by June 30, 2025.

Current Stadium Operations

Despite not having a functional stadium, the stadium management team continued to host events and manage rentals in the available areas on the stadium parcel. These uses included long-term storage with several private entities, daily parking for construction companies, and a wide variety of events, such as concerts with audiences ranging from 8,000 to 12,000 spectators, the 50th State Fair, the Holiday Lights show, and a Megabon event. As a result, revenues reached over 85% of the average revenue from when the stadium bowl was in operation.

A key workstream this past fiscal year was ensuring that the Swap Meet and Marketplace could continue to operate after the stadium is demolished and during the construction of a new stadium. Plans are underway to perform utility realignments, install temporary restroom facilities and office trailers, and resurface the Upper Halawa Parking lot to serve as a viable home for the Swap Meet throughout the construction period.
