STATE OF THE ECONOMY

Indicators of the state economy in the second quarter continued to point to positive growth in 2006, but the growth rate are expected to be somewhat lower than in the previous two years. Robust employment and job growth will lead to income growth for Hawaii's households and tax revenues for the State. The State's unemployment rate continued to be one of the lowest in the nation. Despite a decline in the first quarter, total visitor arrivals were up during the second quarter, suggesting a healthy growth in the visitor industry for the year. Sustained gains in construction jobs and continuing growth in building permit values mean a robust construction sector.

In the second quarter of 2006, the civilian labor force totaled 648,050 people, up 2.6 percent or 16,500 people from the second quarter of 2005. Year-to-date, the civilian labor force was up 2.9 percent. A total of 627,950 people were employed in the second quarter of 2006, an increase of 14,550 people or 2.4 percent from the second quarter of 2005. Year-to-date, civilian employment was up 3.0 percent. The total number of civilians unemployed increased 11.0 percent from the second quarter of 2005 to 20,150 in the second quarter of 2006. Hawaii's civilian unemployment rate (not seasonally adjusted) averaged 3.1 percent in the second quarter of 2006 compared to the 2.8 percent rate in the second quarter of 2005. Year-to-date, Hawaii's unemployment rate averaged 2.7 percent compared to 2.8 percent for the same period last year.

Hawaii's total civilian wage and salary jobs grew 2.6 percent to 623,800 in the second quarter of 2006, a gain of 15,700 jobs over the second quarter of 2005. All private non-agricultural sectors contributed to job growth, most notably Professional and Business Services; Natural Resources, Construction & Mining, Transportation and Utilities; and Retail Trade.

Nominal personal income, not adjusted for inflation, rose $2.4 billion or 5.6 percent in the first quarter of 2006 compared to the first quarter of 2005. Among its components, the fastest growth for the quarter was seen in Proprietors' Income (7.5 percent), followed by Supplements to Wages and Salaries (7.0 percent), Personal Current Transfer Receipts (6.2 percent), Dividends, Interest, and Rent (5.4 percent), and Wage and Salary Disbursements (4.8 percent). Contributions for Government Social Insurance, subtracted from personal income, increased 5.3 percent.

Total tax collections distributed to the State general fund totaled more than $1.2 billion in the second quarter of 2006. This is a $130.7 million or an 11.8 percent increase over the second quarter of 2005. Among the components of the State general fund, revenues from net individual income tax were up 21.2 percent, net corporate income tax up 18.2 percent, transient accommodations tax (TAT) up 8.8 percent, and general excise and use tax (GET) up 6.0 percent.

After a decline in the first quarter, the total number of visitors arriving by air to Hawaii increased 2.7 percent in the second quarter of 2006 compared to the second quarter of 2005. The increase in total arrivals for the quarter resulted from a 6.0 percent increase in domestic arrivals, offsetting a 6.1 percent decline in international arrivals. In the second quarter of 2006, the total average daily visitor census was up 3.7 percent over the second quarter of 2005, while the statewide hotel occupancy rate was slightly down.

The latest data indicate that Hawaii's construction industry will continue to show robust growth for the rest of 2006 and into 2007. In the second quarter of 2006, the Natural Resources, Mining and Construction sector added 2,950 jobs to the state economy, a 9.0 percent job growth from the second quarter of 2005. Construction jobs are at the highest level since 1993. Total value of private building authorizations increased 24.7 percent for the second quarter of 2006 over the second quarter of 2005. From the second quarter of 2005 to the second quarter of 2006, the single-family median price increased 10.8 percent to $640,000 and the condominium median price increased 18.7 percent to $305,000. However, the numbers of single-family and condominium units sold were down 12.3 percent and 14.8 percent, respectively.

After the three consecutive quarterly increases, the total number of bankruptcy filings in Hawaii declined 76.9 percent in the first quarter 2006 compared to the first quarter of 2005. In 2005, total bankruptcy filings were up 44.2 percent from 2004.

OUTLOOK FOR THE ECONOMY

The latest DBEDT forecast for Hawaii's economy expects real (inflation-adjusted) personal income and real gross state product (GSP) growth in 2006 to be at 2.1 percent and 2.7 percent, respectively, which are somewhat lower than predicted in the May forecast and also lower than growth seen in the previous two years. The slower real growth is largely due to the higher expected rates of inflation. DBEDT forecasts are based on the latest trends of growth for Hawaii's economy, as well as those for the U.S and Japanese economies, the two economies influencing Hawaii the most.

The August 2006 Blue Chip Economic Consensus Forecasts expects the economic growth for both the U.S. and Japanese economies to remain strong in 2006, followed by somewhat moderate growth in 2007. Real GDP growth in 2006 is projected to be 3.4 percent for the U.S. and 3.0 percent for Japan. In 2007, GDP growth is expected to be 2.7 percent for the U.S. and 2.3 percent for Japan. The U.S. consumer price index (CPI) is now expected to increase 3.5 percent in 2006 and 2.7 percent in 2007.

Based on current conditions, visitor days in 2006 are expected to increase 2.8 percent, half a percentage point lower than the May forecast. Total nominal (current dollar) visitor expenditures are now forecast to increase 7.1 percent and visitor arrivals to increase 2.0 percent in 2006. Visitor days, visitor arrivals, and visitor expenditures are predicted to grow 2.9 percent, 2.8 percent, and 6.3 percent, respectively, in 2007, followed by slightly lower growth in later years.

Several other indicators also provide support for healthy growth for Hawaii for the rest of 2006 and into 2007. The most notable is the value of private building permit authorizations. Year-to-date in 2006, the statewide total value of private building permits increased 17.2 percent to nearly $1.7 billion, on top of nearly $3.5 billion worth of permit levels in 2005. The large value of permits should mean a robust construction sector for 2006 and 2007. However, with rising interest rates and a decline in demand for housing in recent months, private construction activity is expected to level off in the next few years.

Stronger than expected job growth in the first two quarters contributed to an upward revision of the forecast for total wage and salary job growth in 2006 to 2.5 percent from 2.2 percent in the previous QSER forecast. Job growth is projected to gradually moderate to 1.5 percent in 2007 and to 1.2 percent in later years. At 3.1 percent, Hawaii had the second lowest unemployment rate in the nation in June 2006, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. During the first two quarters of 2006, the Hawaii unemployment rate (not seasonally adjusted) averaged 2.7 percent, as compared to 2.8 percent in the first two quarters of 2005.

Given strong total wage and salary job growth of 2.9 percent in the first half and the strong prospect for continuing job growth in the rest of the year, nominal personal income is expected to rise 7.0 percent in 2006. For 2007, DBEDT projects a slightly lower 6.0 percent growth rate in nominal income. However, due to an upward revision of the forecast for the Honolulu CPI, real personal income is now expected to grow 2.1 percent in 2006, 0.8 of a percentage point lower than in the May forecast. Similarly, real personal income growth is expected to be 2.1 percent in 2007, 0.7 of a percentage point lower than in the May forecast.

Hawaii's projected inflation rate for 2006 is now revised up to 4.8 percent in 2006 from 3.8 percent in the May forecast. The upward revision reflects the recent rises in oil prices and their impacts on goods sold in Hawaii, as well as increases in housing costs, as evidenced by a huge 5.8 percent increase in Honolulu CPI during the first half of 2006. The rate of inflation is expected to be 3.8 percent in 2007, half of a percentage point higher than in the May forecast.

COUNTY ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

Both the civilian labor force and civilian employment continued to grow in all Hawaii counties in the second quarter of 2006 as compared to the second quarter of 2005, albeit at much lower rates than in the previous three quarters. City & County of Honolulu had the highest growth in both employment and labor force, while Maui County had the lowest. The quarterly unemployment rate was 3.0 percent or higher in each county, the highest level since fourth quarter of 2004 (Tables 2 through 5).

Except for a 17.4 percent decline in net individual tax collection in Kauai County, the counties saw increases in tax collections in the second quarter of 2006 from the second quarter of 2005. Net personal income tax collection increased most in Honolulu, followed by Maui County. The Neighbor Island counties showed much higher growth in both general excise & use tax and transient accommodation tax collections than Honolulu.

All counties showed positive job growth in the second quarter of 2006 from that of 2005, with Honolulu having the highest growth and Maui the lowest.

In the second quarter of 2006, Honolulu added 12,550 wage and salary jobs or 2.8 percent over second quarter 2005. The largest increases occurred in Professional and Business Services (3,100 jobs or 5.2 percent), followed by Natural Resources, Mining and Construction (2,400 jobs or 10.5 percent), Transportation, Warehousing, and Utilities (1,900 jobs or 8.2 percent), and Retail Trade (1,650 jobs or 3.6 percent). Honolulu lost 150 or 7.5 percent of its agricultural wage and salary jobs in the quarter.

In the second quarter of 2006, Hawaii County added 1,650 wage and salary jobs, a 2.6 percent increase from the second quarter of 2005. Professional and Business Services, Transportation, Warehousing and Utilities, Retail Trade, and Government each added 250 jobs in Hawaii County, while Agriculture lost 200 jobs.

Maui County saw a net gain of 850 jobs in the second quarter of 2006, a 1.2 percent more than in the second quarter of 2005. Food Services and Drinking Places and Natural Resources, Mining and Construction added 350 and 300 jobs, respectively, while Agriculture and Professional and Business Services lost 300 and 250 jobs, respectively, in the quarter.

In the second quarter of 2006, Kauai County registered a gain of 600 wage and salary jobs or a 2.0 more than in the same quarter last year. Professional and Business Services showed the largest gain of 150 jobs, followed by Construction and Agriculture each adding 100 jobs.

Honolulu was the only county to show a decline due to a decline in international arrivals. Visitor growth on the Neighbor Islands came from gains in both domestic and international markets. Compared to the second quarter of 2005, hotel occupancy rates were down in Honolulu and Kauai counties, while they were up in Hawaii and Maui counties.

Except for Kauai, all counties showed a strong growth in the value of permit activity in the second quarter of 2006. Maui County showed the highest increase of 98.1 percent in the total value of building authorizations, followed by Honolulu County at 18.4 percent and Hawaii County at 13.5 percent. Kauai County saw an 18.1 percent decline in the value of private building permits in the second quarter of 2006 (Table E-8).
