Tim Streit

Lead TOD Planner,
TOD Program

Department of Planning
& Permitting,
City & County of Honolulu

Tim has years of urban planning experience dealing with current and long-range planning as well as economic development types of projects in the public and nonprofit sectors, working in the U.S. and abroad. He currently serves as the Lead Planner in the City and County of Honolulu Transit-Oriented Development (TOD) program within the Department of Planning and Permitting. During his time at the City, he has focused on TOD planning and implementation efforts around the island's rail transit stations, such as new mixed-use zoning, developing affordable housing and other policies, working on catalytic projects, and providing brownfields assistance.

Tim was instrumental in the re-design and development of the revamped City TOD Website and presented a virtual tour of the website at the TOD Council meeting.
