HAWAII COMMISSIONER OF SECURITIES URGES BIG ISLAND RESIDENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN FREE INVESTOR EDUCATION FORUM

HONOLULU – Hawaii Commissioner of Securities Corinna Wong invites all Big Island residents to learn about “Smart Investing in Today’s Environment,” at a free investor education forum on Thursday, April 13, starting at 5:00 p.m., at the Nani Mau Gardens, Garden Court Restaurant.

Participants will learn about important investment tools, gain advice from experts in investor education, and learn what Congress is doing to protect investors. “When it comes to making smart investment choices, we believe an informed public is the first line of defense,” said Commissioner Wong.

The event is a combined effort on behalf of the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs (DCCA), NASD (formerly known as the National Association of Securities Dealers), Hawaii Council on Economic Education (HCEE), and Senator Daniel Akaka.

To register, log onto www.nasd.com/investorforum/hilo, or call toll-free 1-(877) 586-2737. The event is free and open to the public. Complimentary dinner and parking are included.
