The applicant proposes to conduct activities relating to the take of undersized convict tangs or locally known as manini for a study on their life history and reproduction. Up to 60 individuals may be taken under this permit, 15 from four sites Statewide, one site each on Kauai, Oahu, Maui, and Hawaii islands. The study will document if there are differences in manini life history parameters between the different sites.

RECOMMENDATION:

SUBJECT: Declaration of Exemption from the Preparation of an Environmental Assessment under the Authority of Chapter 343, HRS and Chapter 11-200 HAR, for Special Activity Permit 2013-5 Issued to Ms. Eva Schemmel, UH Zoology Department.

The following permitted activities are found to be exempted from preparation of an environmental assessment under the authority of Chapter 343, HRS and Chapter 11-200 HAR:

Project Title

Special Activity Permit 2013-5 Issued to Ms. Eva Schemmel, UH Zoology Department, to Conduct Activities Regulated Under Hawaii State Law to Take Undersized Manini (Convict Tang) for Studies on Biology, Growth, Diet, and Other Life Cycle Metrics.

Permit Number: SAP-2013-5.

Project Description:

The project would involve the taking of regulated manini in non-regulated areas. The permit would be valid from September 14, 2012 through September 13, 2013.

This permit is required to exempt the permittee from the prohibition on the taking of undersized manini under section 13-95-5, Hawaii Administrative Rules (HAR). The undersized fish will be collected by either spear or hook & line for life history studies through the younger life stages from different locations and times during the year.

Up to 15 individuals will be taken at each of four sites (60 animals in total) under this permit. Four collection sites spread across the State are requested to see if different areas show differences in species life history characteristics. This number is necessary to assess significant differences between fish populations from the four study locations across the main Hawaiian Islands. The small number of animals to be taken and the abundant numbers in the wild, indicate that the proposed take is not significant. Samples will be taken on Oahu from non-regulated areas only with one site on Hanalei, Kauai; Maunalua Bay, Oahu; Kahekili, Maui; and Kiholo Bay, Hawaii.

Exemption Determination: After reviewing § 11-200-8, HAR, including the criteria used to determine significance under § 11-200-12, HAR, DLNR has concluded that the activities under this permit would have minimal or no significant effect on the environment and that issuance of the permit is categorically exempt from the requirement to prepare an environmental assessment based on the following analysis:

1. All activities associated with this permit have been evaluated as a single action. Since this permit involves the same methodology over the entire permit period, the categorical exemption determination here will treat all planned activities as a single action under § 11-200-7, HAR.

2. The Exemption Class for Scientific Research with no Serious or Major Environmental Disturbance Appears to Apply. § 11-200-8(a)(5), HAR, exempts the class of actions which involve “basic data collection, research, experimental management, and resource evaluation activities which do not result in a serious or major disturbance to an environmental resource.” This exemption class has been interpreted to include research, such as those being proposed.

In addition, the activities under consideration are exempt under Exemption Class #5, Exempt Items #4 and #5, respectively, which include “wildlife and game surveys, censuses, inventories, studies...” and “...marine surveys and research activities...” Department of Land and Natural Resources, Exemption List for the Division of Fish and Game, approved January 19, 1976.

The proposed research activities here appear to fall squarely under the exemption class identified under § 11-200-8(a)(5), HAR, and as described under the 1976 exemption list class items. As discussed below, no significant disturbance to any environmental resource is anticipated in either the operation of the vessel or the monitoring activities. Thus, so long as the below considerations are met, an exemption class should include the action now contemplated.

3. Cumulative Impacts of Actions in the Same Place and Impacts with Respect to the Potentially Particularly Sensitive Environment Will Not be Significant. Even where a categorical exemption appears to include a proposed action, the action cannot be declared exempt if “the cumulative impact of planned successive actions in the same place, over time, is significant, or when an action that is normally insignificant in its impact on the environment may be significant in a particularly sensitive environment.” § 11-200-8(b), HAR. To gauge whether a significant impact or effect is probable, an exempting agency must consider every phase of a proposed action, any expected primary and secondary consequences, the long-term and short-term effects of the action, the overall and cumulative effect of the action, and the sum effects of an action on the quality of the environment. § 11-200-12, HAR.

Significant cumulative impacts are not anticipated as a result of this activity, and numerous safeguards further ensure that the potentially sensitive environment of the project area will not be significantly affected. All activities will be conducted in a manner that does not diminish marine resources, qualities, and ecological integrity, or have any indirect, secondary, cultural, or cumulative effects.

Since no significant cumulative impacts or significant impacts with respect to any particularly sensitive aspect of the project area are anticipated, the categorical exemptions identified above should remain applicable.

4. Overall Impacts will Probably have a Minimal or No Significant Effect on the Environment.

Any foreseeable impacts from the proposed activity will probably be minimal, and further mitigated by general and specific conditions attached to the permit. Specifically, all research activities covered by this permit will be carried out with strict safeguards for the natural, historic, and cultural resources of the area.

Conclusion. Upon consideration of the permit to be approved by the Board of Land and Natural Resources, the potential effects of the above listed project as provided by Chapter 343, HRS, and Chapter 11-200, HAR, have been determined to be of probable minimal or no significant effect on the environment and exempt from the preparation of an environmental assessment.
